seeking identities . . .

my soul and i are separate
and occupy opposite rooms;
it belongs to a universe
unthinkable to my own poor mind;
i belong not even
to my soul's fleshy covering.
the part of me that walks
must have some calling point;
yet as i tread down trite-described paths
no one calls my name.
the places i pass are many,
and numerous the happy, smiling occupants;
and through the darkness comes my voice:
"which place here is for me?"
bright flames in fireplaces illuminate the smiles
of handsome men and pretty girls,
and fresh young silk-faced children;
but i disturb their tranquility and call
"which place here is for me?"

school board

The Ellwood Area Board of School Directors made important decisions concerning the curriculum and policies of the Ellwood Schools. The actions taken by the nine-member board were an important factor in shaping the academic and social lives of Lincoln students. Parents, teachers, and students were free to air their views at public meetings, and very few details escaped the board's attention. Committees within the school board handled problems from maintenance to athletics. Since many hours were spent talking to parents and teachers concerning school matters, board members' duties did not end with the adjournment of their monthly meetings.

Anna Brewer, Secretary to the School Board.

administration

As the Superintendent of Ellwood Area Schools, Dr. Long was faced with the many details involved in managing the school district. As liaison, he needed a working knowledge of the school district in order to present all matters to the board for consideration. Mr. Barnhart, the Director of Instruction, administered the purchasing of books and coordinating of curriculum. Through administrative efforts, the students saw the result in the advancement of progressive education.

Mr. Taggart and his assistants, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Hennon, were kept busy throughout the year regulating every phase of life at Lincoln. Mr. Taggart was responsible for all the affairs of the school, and Mr. Wallace handled the difficult task of scheduling and rescheduling the student body. In addition to being Athletic Director and basketball coach, Mr. Hennon was in charge of the distribution of text books and was the supervisor of all extra-curricular activities. The principal's office carried out these daily functions and also dealt with any disciplinary or other unforeseen problems which arose during the school term at Lincoln High.

The Commercial Department instructed students in useful skills for careers in business. After being introduced as freshmen to the principles of finances in general business, sophomores continued their studies with business math and Typing I. Specialized courses in business law, shorthand, bookkeeping, and office practice trained juniors and seniors as future clerical workers. During the second semester, selected senior commercial students participated in a new program; these girls were able to work as secretaries in specified local businesses and industries during morning classes.

The Language Arts Department combined creative writing, vocabulary development, and classical and modern literature by giving students the opportunity to take four years of English and a choice of French, Spanish, or Latin. The Lay Reader Program was introduced into the English Department to give teachers an opportunity to assign more written work. Mrs. Myers, senior C. P. English teacher, attended the humanities workshop at the National Council of Teachers of English Convention. The purpose of this convention was to enliven the teaching of English.

In the freshman year students who wished to increase their understanding of foreign lands and culture elected Latin, Spanish, or French. Latin students studied Cicero and Vergil's Aeneid. Students in French II read Around the World in Eighty Days, and the third and fourth year French classes translated The Count of Monte Cristo. Spanish classes presented dramatic skits and gave impromptu speeches which characterized Spanish fiestas and customs.

Seniors listen intently to Mr. Gills' chemical explanations.

The Guidance Department was an aid to students from Junior High until graduation. As early as seventh grade, Miss Baringer and Mr. Spellman helped students in the preparation of schedules and courses of study. While Mr. Latimer scheduled sophomores and prepared them for their first year in Senior High, Miss Craig assisted juniors and seniors. Each year, tests were administered to measure each student's aptitudes, and they were then offered information and interviewed by representatives of the armed forces, trade schools, and colleges. Because of the efforts of this department, Lincoln students were well informed about the fields they wished to pursue.

sophomores elect physics in accelerated science program.

Paul Gehm

Laboratory work in the Science Department helped students associate theory with practical experience in biology, physics, and chemistry. Sophomores who participated in the accelerated science program were permitted to elect physics for the first time this year. Practical science and practical chemistry were offered to senior high students who had completed ninth grade physical science, but these courses included no laboratory experimentation. A vacancy in the Science department which will be difficult to fill was created by the retirement of Mr. Howard Gills who taught chemistry here for 38 years.

auto shop students offer services to community car owners.

Boys who were interested in engineering, woodworking, metal working, or automobiles enrolled in one of the various courses in the industrial arts department. Future engineers and draftsmen improved their skills in the mechanical drawing classes, and many entered their blueprints in contests. The auto shop came into its own this year when fifteen senior boys took an active interest in cars. Many teachers and used-car dealers donated their cars for repair by these boys, and field trips were taken to automobile factories in Michigan and Ohio. This program supplemented the already successful wood and metal shop classes.

social sciences stimulate a political interest among students

Since the Home Economics Department emphasized the skills that prepared girls to be successful homemakers, many students, both male and female, elected either home living, foods, or sewing. Throughout the curriculum, the techniques of home furnishings, the preparation of meals, and the fundamentals of dressmaking were taught. The expansion of this department has thus developed the domestic skills of Lincoln students.

by staging mock campaigns.

The social sciences gave every student a well-rounded program in the study of the basic humanities. Since civil strife was a prevalent part of the American history course, juniors used cause and effect reasoning in their study of the war between the states. In civics classes, mock elections were held in conjunction with their study of Pennsylvania politics. The world history classes correlated the accomplishments of past leaders with today's new faces in politics; these leaders were major topics in their study of ancient civilizations and the world wars. Finally, mental health, behavior patterns, and environmental adaptations were the main concerns of the psychology and sociology classes.

Physical education and health classes combined to develop good health habits and physical fitness. In boys' gym classes individual coordination was developed through wrestling and gymnastics while team sports, such as basketball and cageball, emphasized team cooperation. Girls participated in physical fitness testing programs and then improved their weak skills with exercises, volleyball, kickball, and dancing. Supplementing the physical program, the health classes studied the body and its function, and many students elected an advance course in physiology and anatomy.

medical staff

With the addition of two new nurses, Mrs. Lois Richards and Mrs. Eileen Bamford, the medical department was able to provide students with more efficient emergency attention. Throughout the year, the staff conducted visual and hearing tests, physical examinations for students and athletes, and dental check-ups. The department also arranged for faculty tuberculosis X-rays which are required every two years. Besides their duties at the high school, the medical staff aided the elementary medical program and kept th community informed of its health program.

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act supplemented the regular curriculum by the addition of new services. They included an improved remedial reading program, an instructional resource center, and an enlarged audio-visual department. An evaluation of each student's progress was made through the comparison of pre-test and post-test scores of reading ability and their improvement in the content areas.

national honor society

The National Honor Society of Lincoln High School initiated several new activities this year. Beginning in November, Society members and several teachers served as tutors in a full-scale program which offered help in any subject to students in grades 7-12. At the football games sno-cones, as well as the usual candied apples, were sold for the first time. In addition, the NHS constitution was revised by the Faculty Committee due to a misunderstanding of some of its membership rulings. Retaining membership, which had been based on six-weeks grades, is now determined by semester averages. During the Christmas holidays an alumni tea was held at which graduate NHS members presented a panel discussion on college life. Looking ahead, the Society has voiced its hope to install and operate a mobile book store at Lincoln High next year.

Under the auspices of the Ellwood-Wampum Rod and Gun Club and the sponsorship of Mr. Hairhoger and Mr. Ghere, the Conservation Club was organized to interest young sportsmen in the conservation of natural resources. The Rod and Gun Club gave each student a membership in their organization and the use of their indoor rifle range. After hunting season, club members helped care for the wildlife in our vicinity. As their final project of the year, the young sportsmen planted trees on area land to prevent further erosion.

Diana Hairhoger and Sam Costa add articles to Junior High lost-and-found peg board new this year in the guidance office.

Orientation for Lincoln High School's new students was directed by the Junior High Student Council. As the year began, homeroom representatives were elected to the council and committees were formed. The council supported junior high athletic events in two new ways this year they sold shakers and organized a pep committee to cheer at the basketball games. At Christmas time, members decorated the commons area of the school and the lobby of Crescent Place as well as heading the campaign of the junior high homerooms for the welfare fund. The group assisted the Senior High Council on Parents' Night and with the Mid-West Student Council Conference held at Lincoln. In addition, the Junior High Council planned programs for the Junior High Talent Show, the presentation of letters to junior high athletes, and the annual American Legion Awards assembly. Selling ice cream and sponsoring a lost and found department were year-round activities of this organization.

Freshmen and sophomores who wished to join Jr. Dramatic Club were required to present a short monologue for their tryouts. Those who turned in a creditable job became new members of the club and were initiated at a record hop in November. Ranging from a male hula dancer to a female Al Jolson, the initiation thoroughly embarrassed the young thespians and delighted the large crowd in attendance. A playreading committee was selected from the membership and plans were completed to produce a three act comedy later in the year. For the second consecutive year, the club has planned a trip to Warren, Ohio for a performance by the Kenley players.

Membership in the Future Teachers of America was open to all juniors and seniors interested in the teaching profession. The initiation of new members opened the club's activities in October. At a tea held for the EAEA, F.T.A. members observed a meeting of this faculty organization. During the holiday season, former F.T.A. members were invited to a tea where they related their college experiences to club members during a panel discussion. At their March meeting, F.T.A. members invited all Lincoln clubs to their World Foreign Exchange Meeting at which Bill Izurieta, our foreign exchange student, talked about his home and the customs of his country. Members ended the year with a tureen dinner to honor graduating members and to initiate the new officers. Throughout the school year F.T.A. members had opportunities to observe class sessions and were also responsible for filling the tablet, pencil and pen machines.

For the first time, Lincoln High served as the host school for the Mid-Western Student Council Conference. Under the direction of Tony Paglia, representatives from 80 different schools were invited to attend. Along with a guest speaker, the Lincoln Stage Band and Concert Choir entertained at a general assembly of all representatives. In addition to planning the conference, the council also sponsored a Christmas project to adopt three children for one year and one child for six months from Brazil, China, Japan, and Korea. Other projects included a litterbug campaign, the distribution of victory tags during football season, and a fund-raising drive for next year's foreign exchange student.

bowling club

Ten teams of energetic bowlers gathered every Saturday morning at Park Lanes to enjoy Lincoln's only coed athletic activity. The bowling club, which includes students in junior and senior high, is sanctioned by the American Junior Bowling Congress. In January, the club attended the A. J. B. C. regional tournament in New Castle, and in the spring approximately thirty of our bowlers participated in the State A. J. B. C. tournament.

y-teens

The highlight of the Y-Teens' first semester activities was the winter record hop. Couples entered the "Peppermint Palace" and enjoyed dancing to the music provided by Dance Club. The club's money making activities during the first semester included a Christmas gift item sale and a car-and-dog wash. The new officers attended a leadership conference at Bethany College last summer to better prepare themselves for the year's activities. At the candlelight initiation in September, new members were instructed in the principles and organization of the club. Y-Teen activities were concluded by the preparations for the spring semi-formal, "Once Upon A Time".

key club

Through the efforts of Key Club many services were carried out for the community and school. After Christmas, Key Club boys helped the Ellwood City Jaycees dispose of Christmas trees. Members also held dividers at basketball halftimes and together with Hi-Y Club, sold refreshments at football games. A cold, rainy night was not enough to dampen student spirit at the "Beat NeCa" bonfire sponsored by Key Club. Profits from club T-shirts helped defray costs of the April Key Club Convention which several members attended.

hi-y

Several boys from Lincoln's Hi-Y Club represented our district at the two day Hi-Y Model Legislature in Harrisburg. Boys from all over Pennsylvania occupied the actual seats of representatives in the state's House of Representatives and presented bills for discussion and debate. In the spring, six club members and a coach comprised a basketball team which competed in the area Hi-Y Sports Spectacular at Butler. Members also served the school and community by selling refreshments at home football and basketball games. In addition to their various outside activities, Hi-Y members were entertained by many guest speakers at their regular monthly meetings.

varsity club

Athletes who earned a varsity letter, the blue E, were entitled to become members of the Varsity Club. The letters were the result of long hours of practice and the required amount of gametime in football, baseball, basketball, and track. The club projects included selling mums for the homecoming and New Castle football games and sponsoring the annual Senior-Faculty basketball game. This year the men's faculty team, supported by a group of underclass girl cheerleaders, defeated the senior boys' team that included several Varsity Club members.

A tour of Frank Lloyd Wright's Falling Waters highlighted the Art Club's schedule. Forty members participated in the trip to Pennsylvania's outstanding and unusual Kaufman home. During Halloween, the senior high artists decorated the store windows of Ellwood City replacing fashions and foods with ghosts and goblins. The windows were then judged and awarded prizes by the Jaycees. At Christmas members made dozens of ornaments for the Municipal Building Christmas tree. To raise money for a field trip to the Art Department of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, the Art Club sold spring jackets with school emblems.

The addition of the Journalism I class to the Echo staff alleviated the work of bi-weekly publication of the school newspaper. Meeting these deadlines provided an opportunity for members of the staff to gain experience in reporting, creative writing, and newspaper publication. The Echo included a calendar of coming events, sports reviews, and fashion articles, as well as the "Letters to the Editor" and editorials in which students and staff members frequently voiced their opinions on school issues. After receiving financial support from the Sophomore Class, the Echo staff began the second semester with a new drive for subscriptions and increased their funds by sponsoring a women faculty-sophomore girls basketball game. Along with in-class education, the students traveled to Pittsburgh to observe the publication of the University of Pittsburg's daily campus paper. The year ended with the graduation issue.

club council

The Club Council not only acted as inter-club coordinator, but this year attempted to strengthen its role by instituting two projects. In February, a clean-up-and-dress-up week, concluding with a fashion show, was sponsored jointly by Club Council and Y-Teens. To provide funds for future activities and serve the community at the same time, the members completed arrangements later in the year to sell plates commemorating Ellwood City's seventy-fifth anniversary celebration. The plates, sold at a minimal profit, were handled through Club Council and sold by Varsity Club to help the borough in this project.

tri-hi-y

After the officers attended a summer convention at Grove City College, Tri-Hi-Y began the year with their formal initiation of new members. Mrs. Chester Dean, a locally noted book reviewer, was one of the speakers who highlighted the bi-monthly meetings. The club also presented an assembly featuring Marian Foster Smith lecturing on "The Ten Rooms in the House of Life." In addition to these activities, Tri-Hi-Y served both school and community by selling programs, ushering, and checking coats at athletic events. "Rhapsody in Red" was chosen as the theme for the club's main social event of the year, a Valentine's semi-formal. The Tri-Hi-Y members also participated in the annual UNICEF drive at Halloween and visited shut-ins at the Lawrence County Home throughout the year.

dance club

In its twelfth year of activity, the Dance Club continued its Friday night record hops enabling Lincoln students to catch up on the latest happenings. Through funds made from the sale of dance passes and admission charges, new records were bought and record albums were often given away as door prizes. During the year, club members served as disc jockeys for dances sponsored by other clubs which included semi-formals, record hops, and parties. They also hosted special Homecoming and Christmas alumni dances, introducing "Santa Claus" as the "mystery D. J." at the Christmas Dance. In the spring, the members closed their successful year with a banquet held at the Garden Gate Restaurant in Butler, Pennsylvania.

Latin club initiated new members with the "appleseed" ceremony at their November meeting. Highlighting their meeting at Christmastime was a play about the Roman holiday, Saturnalia, and a Christmas songfest. At the second semester meetings, students prepared for the annual Latin Club Banquet and decorated the cafeteria as a Roman home. Club members and their guests, dressed in togas and sandals, enjoyed a Roman dinner complete with entertainment between each course at this banquet. A regular meeting in March featured a play in Latin that combined not only language ability but knowledge of Latin customs and history.

stage and sound crews

In addition to opening exercises every morning, the sound crew helped Lincoln High students follow the busy schedule of daily events by announcing all activities and other news over the P.A. system. The crew kept faculty and students informed of happenings throughout the day. Several members also announced at varsity football and basketball games. Members of the stage crew were busy helping in the production of assembly programs and plays throughout the year. The crew spent many hours after school repairing scenery, producing special effects, and furnishing lighting for school and community functions.

Lincoln High's photographers, a group of eleven junior and senior high boys, hurried about all year with cameras in hand, registering life at Lincoln and throughout Ellwood City. Experienced photographers trained new ones, and all processed what seemed to be endless piles of film. Photographers not only took pictures for the Ellwoodian, but lent their service to the Echo staff, using a new, smaller photo lab assembled for that purpose this year.

The audio-visual department, with the aid of a federal grant, was supplemented by the ESEA and STAR program. Girls helped operate and repair machines, distributed instructional materials and assisted students in the use of film strips, tapes and records. The boys were assigned the heavier work of delivering and setting up equipment for classroom use. The materials made available through the department provided the school with modern educational supplements.

spanish club

Spanish club membership was opened to all students in grades nine through twelve who had elected Spanish for the school year. The first order of business for the club was the election of officers. As the year progressed, a fiesta complete with piñatas, refreshments, and games made-up the first meeting. Members also attended F.T.A.'s March meeting of all school groups to hear Bill Izurieta, Lincoln's foreign exchange student, speak about his homeland, Ecuador.

new director, new style for band

Precision was the by-word as the 1966-67 Lincoln High School Blue Band kicked off a new marching season. The Blue Band, under the direction of Mr. William Croissant, presented a first-class performance for the annual band festival. Besides playing at all Wolverine football games, the band made a return visit to Pittsburgh to perform during half-time of the Steeler-Detroit Lions Game. The band participated in Halloween, Christmas, and Veterans' Day parades in the area and concluded the year with two outstanding concerts.

sections of stage band blend to produce balanced tone.

A new style of music, stressing the idea of each section playing as a unit, was introduced as assistant band director Fred J. Perino took charge of organizing and rearranging the Stage Band. In their practice, both at home and at rehearsals, members perfected numbers which were used later at Mt. Alvernia and Union High assemblies and at the Tri-Hi-Y Christmas dance.

Pep Band's membership was reduced this year to improve the tone and eliminate the echo in the gym. New numbers such as "The Work Song" and "P. S. C. March" supplemented the traditional numbers, "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Peter Gunn" in providing pre-game and halftime entertainment for the spectators.

The clarinet and brass choirs were organized to offer high school students a wider variety in instrumental music. Instruments ranging from the low bass to the high sopranos formed the complete harmony usually connected with a full orchestra. Membership was announced after competitive auditions, and the best of the reed and brass sections of the concert band were chosen. Besides playing at concerts, they accompanied the Dance Band on tours to school assembly programs throughout the county.

In preparation for the 1966 marching season, Drum Major Dan Hutchinson went to Indiana State University last summer for a week of hard drill. This week helped to prepare him to lead the majorettes and the band during the football marching season. Another leader, head majorette Pam Zona organized the half-time shows of the majorettes and helped in supervising the after school rehearsals. At the final football game, she climaxed the marching season by twirling her fire-baton. As another activity, the majorettes were an added attraction at home basketball games this year with their twirling routines. To earn enough money to buy uniforms for these performances and also to help promote school spirit, the majorettes sold "Pep Dolls."

outstanding performances of concert choir.

Choral Capers provide holiday entertainment for many clubs and civic organizations.

The Lincoln High School choirs, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Backstrom, Mr. Paul Gehm, and student teacher Miss Donna Smith, performed in the Christmas Gift Concert and Spring Choral Festival. These presentations climaxed months of hard work and careful preparation. In the Christmas program, the Junior Mixed Choir sang a variety of selections including "Panis Angelicus," featuring soloist Robert Ripper. Among the highlights of the concert was the song, "Silver Bells," presented by the Senior Girls Choir. The Senior Mixed Choir performed arrangements of "Go Tell It on the Mountain," and "Carol of the Bells." In addition to an outstanding performance at the annual Christmas Gift Concert, Concert Choir and Choral Capers performed for a number of civic groups and were featured on a half-hour color special on WIIC Television. For the spring concert, the Senior Mixed Choir performed "The Exodus Song" and the Concert Choir did the popular number "Amen." The efforts of all choirs were combined to make the Spring Choral Festival a fitting climax to a successful year for both students and directors.

Cheering at games and pep rallies was only a small part of the cheerleaders' activities which began after spring tryouts. During football season, cheerleaders sold shakers and handled the sale of mums for the Homecoming and New Castle games. They also arranged student transportation to away games and made posters for important athletic contests. At a basketball pep rally, varsity cheerleaders carried in the corpse of Lincoln High's school spirit and then generated enough pep to raise the spirit off the stretcher and join the students. At another pep rally, senior boys who dressed as cheerleaders and senior girls who represented the New Castle team played a mock basketball game. Later in the year, the cheerleaders sold T-shirts and sweatshirts to raise money for next year's uniforms.

Pound for pound, the wolverine is one of the toughest animals alive. The 1966 Lincoln High School Wolverines, under new head coach Don Costa, exemplified this spirit as they fought hard to post a 2-8 record. Despite being outplayed in the first two games, the team spirit remained high with the motto 101 for 48; 101% for the full 48 minutes of each game. Routing Aliquippa 21-6, the Wolverines tasted their first victory. Mark Williams' 60-yard touchdown run on an intercepted pass and Nick Lamenza's 85-yard pass and run play highlighted the game. The high point of the season was the homecoming game against Rochester as Tom Costa plunged over from the two yard line with two seconds remaining to win the game 14-7. The Wolverines played their finest game of the year against a much bigger New Castle team, and spirited play characterized by hard hitting determination provided a fitting conclusion to a tough year.

Experienced seniors Bob Cistolo and Pete Greco provided the offensive blocking which opened up many holes for Wolverine backs, like hard-running fullback Gary Rutter who was called upon for most short-yardage situations. Seniors Mike Manzo, Dennis McCullough, and Rich Fiori, receiving valuable assistance from junior Pat Lordi, toughened the defense from their end positions while "monster man" Tom Costa lived up to his name. The main offensive threat was provided by juniors Joe DeLisio and Tom Mondell as both broke records formerly set by their brothers in 1964. DeLisio threw twelve touchdown passes while Mondell caught nine of them. Sophomore Mark Williams scored three touchdowns and performed well on defense. Junior linebackers Rich Householder and Dave Tomeo teamed up to make most of the tackles during the season. Coach Costa has instilled the desire to win, pride in Lincoln High, and pride in Ellwood City in the minds of team members and student body alike.

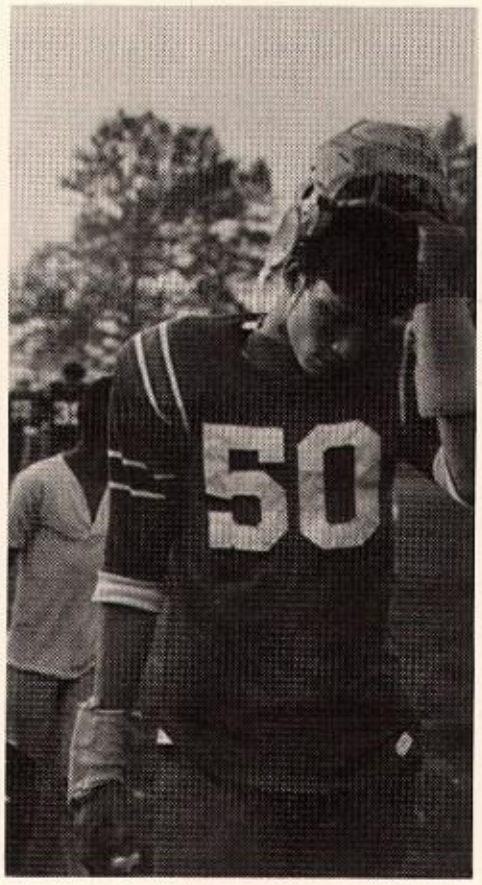
a 3-1-1 record climaxes



Joe Lamenza

The 1966 Lincoln Junior High football team coached by George Jinar and his assistants, Duane Kirklin and Lou Gatto, posted a 3-1-1 record for the season. In the last two seasons under head coach Jinar, the team has compiled an 8-1-1 record. Ellwood rolled over George Washington in the opening game as Milroy Stevenson scored two touchdowns and Bob McCarter one. Tackle Ken DiBiagio fell on a loose ball in the end zone to complete the scoring. In the Sharon game, Stevenson again scored two touchdowns and Wayne Thornhill one. Ellwood's next opponent was a big Butler team. Steve Hacklo paced the offense with two long touchdown runs, while Thornhill recovered a fumble and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. The fourth game of the season featured two unbeaten teams, as the little Wolverines played Ben Franklin. Ellwood came from behind to tie the score 6-6 on Stevenson's end sweep, but fell inches short of the goal line on the conversion attempt. In the final game of the season the little Wolverines were defeated 7-6 as two touchdowns, including Thornhill's 60 yard pass and run play, were called back. Stevenson scored Ellwood's lone touchdown. Joe Lamenza, the middle linebacker, and Thornhill, defensive end, were noted for their hard-nosed defensive play. Other defensive standouts included George Petrak and Ken DiBiagio, tackles, and Mike Miller end.

varsity basketball

The 1966 varsity basketball team centered around 6'9" senior Ernie Hemmerly, who pulled down 418 rebounds and moved into fourth place in the all-time scoring for one season with 386 points. Against Burrell, the varsity also broke the school scoring record with 103 points.

The Wolverines opened the season with an exhibition victory over Rochester. In this game Hemmerly scored 27 points while Jim Dashield pitched in with 24 points. In the next game Ellwood defeated Beaver as Hemmerly, Bob Babcock, Bill Christopher, and George Lordi hit double figures. In the final exhibition game Ellwood scored a victory against New Kensington in overtime, Hemmerly again led all scorers with 27 points while Larry Santillo tallied for 17 points.

Following exhibition play, the Wolverines moved into rugged Section 3 competition. In their first section game, Aliquippa defeated Ellwood although Hemmerly led all players with 16 points. In the next game Ellwood defeated Beaver Falls to capture their lone section victory. Bob Babcock scored 24 points while Hemmerly had 22 points. At Farrell, Ellwood lost an early lead as "Big Ern" fouled out in the second quarter. Following a loss to Ambridge, Ellwood played Butler and, although they led, committed too many turnovers in the final quarter and lost the game. In the New Castle game once again, Ellwood lost in the fourth quarter after being tied at the end of the third quarter. In the second game against Butler, even though down by 15 points at the end of the third quarter, Ellwood fought back and almost won as Hemmerly scored 16 points in the fourth quarter and finished with 29 points in the game.

Throughout the season Ellwood played aggressive defense and hustling offense. "Big Ern" led the offensive attack while Babcock and Dashield assisted Hemmerly in the scoring and rebounding. On defense George Lordi made numerous steals while Hemmerly blocked countless shots.

The Junior Varsity Basketball team opened their exhibition season with a disappointing 53-51 defeat by Rochester. Although led by Larry Santillo's 22 points, the team dropped another close one against Beaver but recorded easy victories in their last four exhibition games. After Larry Santillo and Dick Keith were placed on the Varsity roster, the scoring power fell to Gene DeSanzo, Vic Sharek, and Nick Genova. The Jayvees won their first section contest at Butler, as Sharek led the scoring with 15 points while DeSanzo and Genova scored 12 points each. The Jayvees recorded only two more victories for the season — an exhibition game over Youngstown South and a second victory over Butler. Throughout the season DeSanzo and Sharek led the scoring while Genova played outstanding defense.

Displaying skill and sportsmanship, the 1967 Junior High Basketball team posted a 17-1 record for the season. The Little Wolverines opened the season with a victory over George Washington to begin exhibition play. The Junior High cagers next moved into section play, defeating Butler in the first game as Milroy Stevenson poured in 24 points. In the final game against Hopewell, Coach Spellman's team displayed their offensive punch as Mark Dalbey, Mike Chiaro and Stevenson all hit double figures.

The balance of the 1966 Junior High team was evident. Brian Conti and Chiaro were generally the playmakers, while Stevenson and Thornhill shared the rebounding duties. Rick Coughlin and Conti both played aggressive defense with Dalbey and Gottuso combining to balance the offensive attack. Stevenson led all scorers with a 292 point season total and a 16.2 game average.

eighth-grade cagers post 16-1 season.

The eighth grade basketball team, coached by Mr. Joe Cioffi, completed the 1966-67 season with a 16-1 record. The cagers were victorious in their first seven games with only one defeat which came in their second contest with Farrell. The team went undefeated for the rest of the season with a strong defense that kept the scores of their opponents to a minimum. Don D'Amico led the scoring with a total of 215 points and an average of 13 points per game while Joe Lamenza, Jim Shingleton, and Ron Atkinson also aided the offensive attack.

the golf team records its best season to date.

Led by seniors Eugene Massine and Jeff Blazin, the golf team opened its third season by defeating Seneca Valley and Farrell. After dropping the next six matches, the golfers came back to again defeat Farrell for their last victory of the season. The team placed fifth in Section I competition and compiled an average score of 88.2 per 18 holes. Massine was credited with a low medal score of 75, and with the return of lettermen Rutter, Ebersberger, and Maietta, golfers anticipated the '67 season.

the wolverine nine cop another section six title.

Desire, spirit, hustle and aggressiveness characterized the 1966 Lincoln High School baseball team. The coaching of Bill Spellman and Bob Timmermen led the Ellwood nine to a 19-4 season with an 11-1 section record to capture another Section VI Title. The Wolverines' success depended on timely hitting and effective pitching. The '66 baseball team led by Jim Potter, Pete and Pat Pietrandrea, Jim DeMark, Ray Smith and Steve Pavick pounded out 111 runs while Rich "Bart" Bartolomeo, John Sharek and Jerry Bukac handled the pitching chores allowing only 45 runs.

After capturing the Section VI Title, Ellwood's efforts were not halted immediately; they next sought the W.P.I.A.L. Title. Rich Bartolomeo baffled the Riverside team in the first game by hurling a one-hitter and a 3-0 shut-out victory. In the following game against Carnegie, John Sharek smacked a pinch-hit home run to win the game 3-2. Ellwood's title hopes were not realized, however, as they lost to Kiski 7-5.

undy Palatka sets a new school broad jump record with jump of 20' 8¾".

Individual records and an inter-squad meet highlighted the 1966 track season. The team was built around returning lettermen Bundy Palatka, Bill Furby, Craig Goatley, Rich Rouse and John Boyle. The broad jump record held by Mr. Duane Kirklin, this year's track coach, was broken by Bundy Palatka with a distance of 20 feet 8¾ inches. Miler Bud Worrell and dashman Craig Goatley also performed well throughout the season. A unique contribution was made by Andy Newton, who was the first to compete in the two-mile for the Wolverines, and now holds the school record. In the inter-squad meet, Craig Goatley placed first with a total of 21 points, closely followed by Bill Furby who took second place with 20½ points. At 16 points each, Bundy Palatka and George Snyder tied for third. With the returning lettermen's strength in distance running, the Wolverine thinclads were eagerly looking to the coming track season.

Headed by the Freshman Class, the newly organized Pep Committee added interest, excitement and spirit to the Jr. High games. For the first time, freshmen were offered a wider range of subjects, among them, accelerated math, languages, and lab biology. Because of their well-rounded program of study and extra-curricular activities, the ninth graders emerged well-prepared to advance into senior high school life as sophomores.

pep committee adds spirit to junior high games.

The Junior High Student Council formed a pep committee to promote spirit at Junior High basketball games. The committee, with Linda Stahl and Ron Markus as co-chairmen, sold blue and white pom-poms to seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls. Several practice sessions were held in the old gym to give the students and cheerleaders the opportunity to unify their routines. The committee cheered at all the home games as well as an away game at Beaver Falls. Student support was rewarded by silver and gold trophies to the homerooms with the highest percentage of attendance at the Junior High games. Next year, in addition to the basketball games, the committee also plans to cheer at the Junior High football games.

The Sophomore Class organized for the first time in the fall of 1966 nder the sponsorship of Miss Leona Bobin and Mr. Ray Foley. They ected class officers and held a successful Christmas alumni dance which rovided funds to support the Echo for the remainder of the school year. he Sophomore Class was well represented in sports; many of the boys articipated in football, baseball, basketball, and track while the remainder the sophomore students enthusiastically supported their teams. Many phomores also had a successful academic year; they were the first ass to take part in the accelerated science program and those who ualified found their way to physics class. Some students chose courses hich would be helpful to them in college, some practiced office skills, and hers selected general courses that would aid them in their future occupa-ns. Spring found the sophomores ready to meet the responsibilities of perclassmen at Lincoln.

The newly-elected Junior Class officers led the class in an active program of events. The first project of the year, "Operation Candy," helped to insure a successful prom as juniors surpassed their goal by $1,000. The prom committees, under the leadership of Kathy Chesko and Chuck Young, selected "New York, New York" as their theme. In addition to the prom activities, the juniors began planning for their future by taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and inquiring about prospective colleges, schools of nursing, and employment opportunities. In sports the Junior Class was well represented with record-breaking participants and valuable varsity lettermen. Spring was highlighted by the play and the distribution of class rings which marked them as upperclassmen at Lincoln High School.

Seniors began the school year with annual competition between homerooms in the magazine campaign. The ten homerooms, represented by Peanuts characters, netted a record $15,834.92 to finance the Ellwoodian. Class elections and cabinet organization were followed by Homecoming activities. For the first time, the traditional homecoming activities. For the first time, the traditional homecoming ceremony was highlighted by the election of a crown bearer and a scepter bearer in addition to the queen, Patti Laszlo. During the school year, seniors were occupied with college boards, college admissions, job placements, and many academic frustrations. The class party was held on April 8, and the usual flurry of May activities was highlighted by the dinner dance and prom. The year's activties came to a close with the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercise in June.

Renee,
Best of luck always to a real tuff girl Never forget our homeroom, spanish or geometry classes. Don't forget those crazy notes we wrote in P.G. all day.

Chris

Renee,
I don't know where to begin! I hope you get everything in life you want because you deserve it.
Stay as sweet as you are and success will be attained easily.
Remember all our good times in and out of school, hope to have more!
May a hope of happiness always be with you

Love Ya
Rick

A SOUL BROTHER ALWAYS

me

i stand up from my lowly seat
and wish to God that i could speak, but-- i suddenly remember
i'm only me.

i quickly sit and lower my head
which turns crimson red because i suddenly realize
i'm only me.

but there must have been a lot of me's
who rose to speak
and when they were finally recognized
they beamed; Here, look my way-- I'm Me!

--D. Schuster

Renee,

To a real sharp & nice girl and a great friend, I wish the best of luck in the future. May success and happiness be always with you in whatever you attempt. Remember all of the great times we had together & all of the talks we used to have in our tuff homeroom. I hope I have been a good a friend to you as you have to me. R. M. A.

Dave Seula

P.S. I'll come & pick you up pretty soon.

Renee,
To a real
tuff & sweet gal.
Never forget our
sharp cooking class & study hall & all the help you gave me on my Spanish.
I hope we can have just as much fun next year & we did this year.
